

Cherokee

Are bees allowed? No. There are no restrictions, but staff also note there are no permissions. See Additional Notes.

If a nuisance was called: Honey bees do not fall under the City's definition of Animal, so complaints would be referred to Zoning.

Additional notes: Animal is defined as vertebrate.

Email from Don Eikmeier, City Administrator:

...Cherokee's ordinance regarding the keeping of animals, poultry, etc. ... does not have anything in regards to the keeping of bees or bee hives. I have also checked our zoning ordinance.

Our agricultural zone would allow for bees; however it does not specifically address bees either. Although not specifically listed, bees within our residential, commercial or industrial districts would not be allowed because they are not specifically permitted.
